Welcome to Wellness!

- Get in a circle.
- One student takes a ball and says something nice about the next student, then passes the ball.
- Keep passing the ball around the circle and saying nice things.
- How do you feel?
1 Look and listen.
- What do you see?
- What do you hear?
- What’s happening?
- What makes you say that?

2 Talk about you.
- Do you have good relationships with others?
- It is easy or hard for you?

Take a Moment

The Gratitude Tree

Sit on the floor and put your hands on your lap.

Close your eyes. You are in your own bubble.

Choose one friend. How do they look? How do they sound?

What do you like about them?

What are you grateful for?
Lesson 2

She’s My Friend, but I’m Jealous!

1.02 Listen and read. Who is jealous?

1 Congratulations, Sadia! You’re the winner.

2 Hey! Great job!

3 Hey, Lucy! Come on over!

4 What’s wrong?

5 Why are you here? You’re my best friend!

6 You are jealous. Being jealous means you want something someone else has.

7 When you feel jealous, think about what you are grateful for.

8 I’m sorry. I worked hard on my science project. I didn’t win, but that’s OK. Congratulations!

2 How do they feel? Why? Read and circle.

1 Sadia feels proud at the beginning of the story.

2 Oscar feels jealous at the beginning of the story.

3 Lucy and Sadia feel angry in the middle of the story.

4 Lucy, Sadia, and Oscar feel lonely at the end of the story.

Why does Sadia feel proud at the beginning?

Because she wins first prize at the Science Fair.
