

Teacher's Notes

Worksheet

Cut-out cards

Editable
Powerpoint

Diversity, Equity & Inclusion Activities

Lesson 2

IS THAT FAIR?

Step forward if it's easy for you to ...

- concentrate, have energy and do your best at school
- move around your school and your town, nothing stops you going where you want to
- have time to do your homework
- find a quiet space to relax and be calm
- go to a green space and enjoy nature
- get to places (school, the park, the sports centres, your friends' houses)
- understand and talk to your teachers and other adults
- ask your parents for spending money
- spend time with your family

Step backwards if it's not easy

We don't all have the same starting point

Inequality =

Macmillan Dictionary

a situation in which people are not equal because some groups have more opportunities, power, money, etc. than others

At school you can speak your first language.

You don't have to work and you go to school.

You don't have to help around the house.

You have lots of books at home and your own laptop.

Your family has a car.

Your town has excellent public transport.

After school you have free time.

You have no physical disabilities.

You live close to a big park in a safe part of town.

You have your own bedroom.

Your family live close to you and you see them often.

At school you can't speak your first language.

You have to work so you don't go to school.

You have to get up at 5am to do chores in the house.

You share a computer with three other people.

You have to walk to school, it takes an hour.

There aren't many buses to your part of town.

You look after your younger brothers and sisters after school.

You use an electric wheelchair.

You live in a polluted area with no green space.

You share a bedroom with two other people.

Your family lives in another country.

I have a disability and I use a wheelchair

I have no physical disabilities

Starting point

I can't always go with my friends to go to the cinema or to watch sports events so I feel sad.

I have to spend a lot of money on travelling.

I have to travel by car and taxi which is worse for the environment.

I can't take the metro because there are no lifts in the nearest station.

I can cycle or get the bus or metro to where I need to go.

Cycling gives me exercise and is good for my mental health.

I don't spend a lot of money on transport so I can spend it on doing fun things.

I feel happy and connected to my community.

The School
That Tried to End Racism