

Surprise For Mom

Written by Amy Edgar Illustrated by Bridget Starr Taylor

It was Mother's Day. Dad, Kate and Eric planned a surprise dinner.

What should they make? First, they looked in a cookbook. Dad picked roasted chicken. Kate picked green beans with fresh tomato sauce. Eric picked chocolate cake.

They went to the grocery store.
They bought food for their dinner.

At home, Dad cooked the chicken. Kate cleaned the beans.

Eric set out pretty placemats and napkins.

Then, they made the chocolate cake. Dad read the recipe. Kate mixed everything together. Eric poured it into the pan.

Next, Kate put out knives and spoons. Eric put out forks and glasses. The timer buzzed. Dinner was ready.

They heard a key in the door. It was Mom.

‘Surprise!’ they shouted.

‘Wow!’ said Mom.

‘I love surprises.’

They ate dinner together. Then they ate the chocolate cake.
It was yummy.

‘Thank you,’ said Mom. ‘This is the best Mother’s Day ever.’
Then Mom got up. She went into the living room. When she came back, she had a big smile on her face.

‘And here are some little surprises
for you!’ she said.
