Ivan's Movie

Ivan really loved movies. He liked watching them, and he wanted to be a director and a cameraman someday. He secretly liked the idea of being a famous actor, too. He made a lot of funny and interesting videos of his family and his friends at school. One day, his teacher gave the class a project: Teach the class how to do something new.

That evening, Ivan sat in his room for a long time thinking about his project. He watched movies and read some books to get ideas. He got his notebook and pens. He walked around. Then he had an idea! He was an expert cell phone movie director! "I can teach everyone how to make a movie—with a cell phone!" Ivan said.

"First, think of an idea for your movie. Then write the script. Think about where you want to film, and what actors and costumes you need. Then film your movie. Finally, edit the movie on your computer. Cut!"

Ivan's movie was a great success. He was the cameraman, the director, and the star of his own movie!
