Movie Magic

Many movies today are animated. Animated movies can have talking animals or robots in space. Animated movies are amazing!

In the past, animated movies were black and white. Artists drew black and white pictures with pencils and paper. Then a director made the pictures into a movie.

These days, animated movies are not black and white. They are colorful. An animator is a person who makes animated movies. Today, animators use computers to make animated movies and television shows.

First, artists draw 3D characters with computers. Then animators move the characters and give them voices. Animators can work on one movie for many years!

Animators can use models to make movies, too. Models are small characters. Animators move the models and take lots of pictures. Then a director puts the pictures together to make a movie.

3 Think and answer.

Do you like animated movies?
What's your favorite animated movie?
